SEEKING NEW INDICTMENTS.

THE GRAND JURY WILL ARRANGE TO TRY ELECTION THIEVES HERE.

Existing Changes of Venue May Amount to Little-Bradbury and Mrs. Bradbury Testify - Telegraph Superintendents Catled In-Other News.

The grand jury convened yesterday morning after a week of vacation and It Comes Up Once More but Is Again Post spent most of the forencen examining into the conspiracy by which the Second ward gang of politicians manipulated the ballots in the election last fall. The result of the Clark trial was encourag-in the case of venue to Platte county.

If further indictments are returned against these men the cases will come to trial before Judge Wofford, as it is not, such an easy matter to secure a change of venue as it was several months ago.

Formerly it only required the affidavits who will represent the city. against these men the cases will come to | m trial before Judge Wofford, as it is not such an easy matter to secure a change Formerly it only required the affidavits of three disinterested witnesses to secure a change of venue; but now, under the new law, which went into effect in June, a prearranged hearing of the case must be held in open court and twenty-five reputable witnesses testify that the defendant cannot have a fair and impartial trial in the county in which he is inrial in the county in which he is in-

Then, too, the judge has complete jurisdiction in the matter of allowing the case to be transferred. Before his opinion carried no weight with it. He had no decision whatever save to grant the request. That was why why Clark did not get a change of venue. His attorneys were prepared to introduce a vast number of witnesses who would swear that he could not receive a fair trial in Jackson county but they were restrained by Judge Wofford, who was convinced that Clark could have a fair trial, and he refused to sustain the motion for a change of venue.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Neal met with the grand jury yesterday mornichange of venue.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Neal met with the grand jury yesterday morning and the first witness introduced was I. H. Bradbury. After he had been on the stand for a couple of hours, his wife was brought in and it is said gave valuable testimony against some of the conspirators. That Bradbury is a valuable witness for the state was plainly established during the Clark trial, his evidence being productive, in a great measure, of the yearly the clark trial, his evidence being productive, in a great measure, of the gang theroughly and is not afraid to divulge them. Attorney J. J. Williams says he was one of them and he ought to be completely on the inside. This accusation made no difference to Bradbury, however, and he went ahead and gave his testimony.

Prosecuting Attorney Jamison was not alone in his estimate of the weakness of the case against Clark. The other side entertained the same opinion and attempted to throw out the impression during the trial that Clark had a cinch; that he could not be convicted. There was no conspiracy, they argued, and least of all did Clark have any connection with one, were such a thing established. Now they entertain a vastly different opinion, and Mr. Jamison thinks a number of them will run over each other in order to turn state's evidence. This state of affairs is just what the prosecuting attorney and his assistants have been working for and they are wonderfully well pleased that it should have taken so favorable a turn.

Following Bradbury and his wife. M. D. Wood, manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and A. B. Richards, manager of the Postal, were taken before the grand jury, each bearing a small package of telegrams which are reported by the state to have been sent by and to John May, when it was known that Bradbury showed signs of weakening and turning state's evidence, and some of which were received and sent after Bradbury was in San Francisco and Portland, Ore, The telegrams were all published in the Journal a month ago and told for them where it now rests, having been delayed because of demurrer. It is set for next term, but will no doubt be postponed again, as it is almost impossible to get the witnesses to go to Platte City, many of them being too poor to stand the expense. Accordingly it is the object of the state to secure new indictments against May, Owsley and Meran, and compel them to come to trial in this county, where, it is thought, they will suffer the fate of Clark, who was convicted on a charge of being one of their based on a charge of the county counts of the poor farm and the county of the county of the county county of the poor farm and the county of the henchinen.

After the grand jury had examined the witnesses mentioned, the matter was allowed to rest for a day or so in hope that new evidence would come to light. The prosecuting attorney is hopeful that another one of the gang will turn state's evidence and thus aid him in his object.

The attorneys for Clark went before Judge Wofford yesterday and filed a motion for a new trial. As they were not ready to give hond, the court did not fix one, but will do so to-day in answer to a motion which will be filed in arrest of judgment, and which will permit of the defendant's release on bail.

George J. Pierce, the step-father of the conticted election judge, is more alert than any of the indicted politicians in his efforts to have his son released from custody, despite the fact that he is less concerned by the verdict of the jury than a great many of them. It is thought the bail will be placed at a figure surprisingly near $5,000, and that the bondsmen will come from the county court building, as friends of Pierce, who is a deputy under Sheriff O'Neill.

deputy under Sheriff O'Neill.

In the motion for a new trial filed yesterday, the usual charges are made that the verdict was contrary to the evidence in the case as well as contrary to law. Some other reasons are offered, among which are:

"That the court admitted illegal evidence for the state and excluded important testimony for the defense that should have been admitted.

"That new evidence has been secured and that the jury by examining the poll books and misbehavior made a fair trial impossible, and that the verdict was in opposition to several members of the

the defense in making up its instructions and made other mistakes.

"That the court committed error in refusing to grant a change of venue, in refusing to quash the indictment and in refusing to sustain the demurrer of the defense to the state's evidence.

"That the state committed fraud in only placing the names of five witnesses upon the back of the indictment when it had sixty,five." had sixty-five."

Judge Wofford did not set a time for

It is claimed by Clark's friends that he did not receive fair treatment at the hands of Judge Wofford; but it is also remembered that the judge was very cautious in admitting evidence that would be detrimental to the defendant, when he thought it had no bearing on the case and in many instances when he was in doubt as to the evidence introduced by the state, he ruled it out, saying that it was not his purpose to reach a verdict by any roundabout methods. On the occasion of Bradbury's testimony as to his knowledge of the conspiracy, the court ruled it out as not just.

His attorneys have forbidden him to talk, and he puts in his time studying over his downfall. He did not look for a constitution of the confinement of look for a conviction. It was the las of his expectations. So long as a conviction was obtained in Clark's case, which was considered by Mr. Jamison as the weakest of the whole parcel, a strenuous effort is to be made to secure additional indictments against May, Owsley, Moran and others whose cases have been sent on changes of venue to Platte county.

There are still people in the city mailing the programme of the Priests of Pallas feativities and despite the wide publicity given to the fact that each conv requires a cents postage, they place but 2 cents on the package and allow it to be held in the office here. Yesterlay there were twenty held up for postage. Altogether there have been about 168 held, but many of them have since been delivered. Superintendent Walker took pains to see that they were delivered and so had cards sent to parties for whom the packages were intended, notifying them of the fact that the packages were held. There has been a very general response to the notices and there remain but 200 of the lot.

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS.

MUCH MONEY TO BE SPENT BY THE METROPOLITAN COMPANY.

The Elevated Road to Be Widened and Guarded-The Main Line From the Depot to Be Rebuilt - Prospect Avenue Witt Have Electricity.

The Metropolitan Street Bailway Com-The Mctropolitan Street Railway Com-pany intends to spend half a million dol-late in rebuilding and improving the vari-ous cable and electric lines of the sys-tem within the next year. General Superintendent C. F. Holmes last night outlined what the company is now doing and what it intends to do as now doing and what it intends to do as rapidly as the work can be accomplished. The electric lines are being given attention first. Both the Rossedale and the Vine street lines have been connected with the power house at Eighteenth and Olive and with the Holmes street power house, so that each may be run from either power house. each may be run from either power house. This not only insures a better service on the lines, but is a safeguard against delays from breakdowns.

The work of completing rebuilding the Armourdale electric line is now well under way. On this line there will be an entirely new equipment throughout and a new overhead structure, so that when the work is completed the line will be practically a new one. The new coaches, which are now being mounted, are much larger and better than the old ones and the lines as reconstructed will be one of the finest in the country. The rebuilding will cost about 50,000 and it is hoped to have it completed by December 1.

So,099 and it is hoped to have it completed by December I.

The most extensive improvement which the company has in view is the almost complete rebuilding of the "L." road, at an estimated cost of $20,090. There will be new rails and an entire new equipment with a new bridge across the Kaw, which alone will cost $20,000. The elevated structure is to be widered three feet and beary guard rails put in so as to greatly lessen the chance of accident. It will take at least a year to finish this big task as it is impossible to get the rails at present.

It is the plan of the company to convert the horse car line on Prospect arenue to an electric line as soon as testret is graded. An ordinance for the grading is now before the beard of public works and it is expected that it will soon be favorably acted on as the property owners desire the work done as soon as pessible. The proposed grade contemplates a cut at Twenty-fourth street and a fill at Twentleth street, so as to make the grade much easier than at present.

An extensive improvement in the cable lines is to be made in the old main line of the Kansas City Cable Company from the Union depot to Independence and Prospect avenues, Practically all of this portion of the Kansas City system is to be rebuilt. The only thing which is delaying the beginning of the work is the impossibility of getting the rails. An order for 600 tons was placed months ago with the Johnstown Steel Company, and it was promised for September I, but the company now says that it cannot be delaying the beginning of the work is the impossibility of getting the rails and the space between the rails paved with granite, making the lines so have all finished before the first of the new year and will be reconstructed every night and the same distance covered by the pavers the day following. He hopes to get this work all finished before the rails can be furnished as promised. This work will cost the company not less than $16,000. The Ninth street heline is being remodeled and male stronger and safer in December I. The most extensive improvement which
